ANOTHER HORRIBLE EPISODI OF THE MACAO SLAVE TRADE.

and one which, if true, as we have more than reason to believe it is affords but another illustration of the fiendish traffic which we have so often denounced The following is the story told in brief: On the 23rd of July last, a vesse called the Providenza left Macao Callao, having on board 380 coolies of ger of taking too much, and then discharge the class called "emigrants." The Captain took with him his wife and two children, and the vessel was manned by an European crew. Since her departure nothing had been heard of either vessel, explained that he was on duty, mounted cargo or crew.

A few days since, however, a dismasted vessel appeared off the port of Hakodate. On being boarded she was found to tion certificate for the Italian ship charged them which left Macao six months ago for Peru: that meeting with bad weather the captain and European crew had taken ing 338 coolies, and, more than that, the vessel had been stripped of all European articles which would naturally be found on board except a compass and a night-This alone was suspicious, but these suspicions were increased to almost a certainty on discovering that the cabin with blood, which shewed yet more plainly on the deck beneath, and that the bulkhead and cornices also bore evidence of a but strangely enough the vessel's bell bore the name of Bertha. There seems however to be no doubt that the vessel.

The Japanese Government, we believe, communicated these facts to the Treaty. Consula and at their request took immediate possession of the vessel and coolies. placing the latter in rigorous confinement until communication should have been had with Macao, and the facts ascertained as to the departure of the Providenza, from that port. We cannot of course accurately predict the exact nature of the facts which will doubtless be elicited before we receive the next mail from Japan. But it is very evident that, either the coolies have murdered the captain, his family and crew and probably their missing companions, or that the 42 coolies after being abandoned. But then again how account for the removal of all erticles of European manufacture ? People who desert a ship in a gale of wind not involve either the coolies or the Eutopean crew in the vilest of crimes ! and

LOCAL

WE direct our readers' attention to the article, copied in another column, from the Saturday Review, on Mr Burlingame's Mission. It is highly interesting as expressive of influential English opinion in reference to that curious political incident.

THE entertainment given last night in aid of the Relief Fund of the 73rd Regt. was an exceedingly pleasant affair. The excellent band of the regiment played some very good music, and played it very well, too. and songs and readings from popular authors were included in the programme. There is much about these entertainments that, apart from the benevolent object they are intended to promote, should secure for them a wider recognition than they have yet received, not simply for the sake of the regimental fund, but for the more selfish its harbor, and consequently a large motive of the enjoyment they afford. From number of the unsophisticated but pug- such a band as that of the 73d, one hears nacious, hardworking but often drunken, good operatic music adequately interpreted, and the Overture to "Zampa" and selections from ; " Martha" were performed by them last evening. The readings were of fectively done, and the son; s were deservedanimated mop-handles, to parade the ly encored. The audience was, of course, streets of a native town which yearly chiefly composed of the members of the resuffers from enormous fires, and is as giment. There were some non-militanta combustible as Asiatic ingenuity can present, of both sexes. In future occasions make it; and upon them devolves that we hope to see more, for their own sakes. rare mixture of courage and discretion for by staying away they miss an agreeable two hours.

TO-DAY'S POLICE.

Mr May had several cases of "drunk to hand to-day, with sundry other charges, James Clark, seaman of H. M. S. Satellite, appeared in dock in a most tattered state, with his clothes hanging about him ment of deficiencies, make arrangements as if hung up on innumerable pegs about to raise a force of which the members his head and shoulders. Clark, it need hardly be said, had got drunk; and, as he himself explained "a fellow will make a slip sometimes,". He, however, seems have "alipped into" (pugilistically speaking) every one who showed the least intention of interfering with his personal liberty. Of course, as Clark admitted, he would not have done so had be been in his proper senses; but His Worship strongly advised Clark to take care, and to take no more! quor than he could conveniently carry with safety to himself and the community Clark also smashed a chair in a partia manner, and refused to pay his chair-bire This latter charge Clark alleged to be false, as "to the best of his recollection," (he ad mitted he was drunk) he gave the chaircoolie ten cents for a transmission the distauce of one hundred yards. He also as saulted the Policemen, and got his clothe nearly torn off his back. His Worship fined him 10/ for the assault on the Police. A HORRIBLE story reaches us from Japan, and ordered $1 to be paid to the coolies for damage and chair-hire.

J. Clements; seaman, was charged with having been found incapable of taking care of himself; and in reply, admitted that he was drunk and knew nothing about the matter whatever. As he had some $14 in money on his person, which was returned, for His Worship cautioned prisoner of the dan-

CORRESPONDENCE.

POLLARD V. SMALE, To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL. Hongkong, Ceptember 9th, 1868 Sin, -I observe in your issue of last even ing, portion of a letter appearing in The London and China Herald of July 31st signed (strange to say) " Equity." I must ask you to publish this, in flat denial and contradiction of the assertions made by "Fauity" with regard to the report made by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to Her Majesty, upon the reference to them of part of the matters contained in my petition to Her Maesty. The writer of the letter professes to give publicity to what he says "are considered in legal circles the exact facts of the case," and, he also roundly asserts, what Her Majesty "determined."

With regard to the first point, I would merely state that the first intimation I had of the result of the case, was by a telegram in the following words: "Pollard v. Smale. Judgment entirely in your favour and fine remitted." This telegram was forwarded to me by the Solicitors having charge of my interests, and when I state that they were Messieurs Freshfields, gentlemen whose position and professional standing need no mention from me, I think the public will incline to credit those gentlemen with more knowledge of what was "considered in le gal circles," than the person whose identity is but thinly veiled under the singularly ill-chosen nom de plume of "Equity." That Mesers Freshfield's telegram fully and entirely correct, any one who has read the Order in Council of June 19th. 1868, must I think be satisfied, but fortunately the matter is not left in any doubt. The writer of the letter says that the prayer of my petition "was not granted," and therefore the judgment recorded on the minutes of the Supreme Court at Hongkong untouched." I say however that the prayer of my petition was granted, that the sentence was reversed, and that such reversal is now on record in the Supreme Court, and I beg to hand you herewith;-1st. - Copy of Despatch No. 375, intimat ing to me reversal of sentence, and returning me the fine: 2nd.—Copy of my letter to Registrar Supreme Court ;

3rd.—Copy of letter of Registrar Supreme Court in reply and I add also copy of my letter to subscribers to payment of fine. These four documents are too lengthy to ask you to publish gratis, but I would beg you to publish them at the foot of this letter, charging for them as an advertisement.

Of the animus which actuates the self dubbed "Equity," there can be little doubt but as to stir up the matter afresh can serve no good end, I confine my notice of him and his cause, to laying before the pub the indisputable facts from which, and not from any version given by either side, they will form their opinion. I am, Sir, yours faithfully
